

The Huck Homestead: A North Fork Legacy

Art Exhibit

June 27, 2010

Enjoy a unique look at a North Fork original homestead family and their artistic legacy. The works to be displayed at the Belton Chalet Centennial show beautiful perspectives of life in and near Glacier National Park.

The Huck family established their homestead in 1917, four miles north of the Polebridge Mercantile. Living side by side to the park gave years of creative inspiration to the Huck children and every generation since. Main contributing artists to our exhibit The Huck Homestead: A North Fork Legacy include: the late Robert Huck, Helen Huck Voelker Ramon and Ted Ramon (Helen's son and current Homestead resident). Select pieces from the late Noel Voelker and jewelry by Noel Ramon will also be shown. Historical pictures, stories and information about the family and their experience make this exhibit a must see addition to The Belton Chalet Centennial Celebration. On behalf of the Huck/Ramon family we hope to see you there!
